FENG YU-HSIANG FLEES TIENTSIN, REPORT

INCREASE IN PHONE RATES IS AGREED TO BY COUNCIL

Revised Schedule To Be Effective On January 1st

DRAFT NEW PLAN

Residence Service To Cost Tls. 55 Per Annum

Permission for an increase in rates effective January 1, 1925, has been granted the Shanghai Mutual Telephone Company, Ltd., by the Municipal Council as a result of negotiations which have been pending between the company and the Council since last spring. The new schedule of telephone charges, as revealed in correspondence published in today's issue of the Municipal Gazette, will be as follows:

1. Rates for residential telephones to be increased from Tls. 45 per annum to Tls. 55 per annum.

2. Rates for business telephones to be increased from Tls. 65 to Tls. 80 per annum.

3. 75/100 line switchboard to be increased in rental to Tls. 100 and Tls. 150 per annum respectively.

4. All restaurants, clubs, hotels, tea shops, etc., to be placed on a message rate basis instead of as at present a flat rate, and the charge to be based at the rate of dollar cents five (rate of exchange to be fixed at 120 to $1) per call per exchange line per day, with a minimum of 10 calls per exchange line per day, all calls over 300 per month to have a rebate of 2½ cents per call. Incoming calls to the subscriber are free and he is permitted to make charge of five cents to anyone using his telephone. In addition to the usual installation fees, a deposit of Taels 10 per line must be made.

ESTIMATED SURPLUS

In a letter to the Council under date of October 21, Mr. C. W. Perter, secretary of the company, points out that on a basis of the revised rates, an estimated surplus to tariff revision of Tls. 109,901 will be shown during a period of five years.

"It is by no means easy to arrive at an accurate estimate of income and expenditure and capital outlay over a period of five years," he writes, "and although every care has been taken in the preparation of the accompanying statistics, the actual results may show material differences from the estimated figures. Any surplus is carried to a Tariff Revision Account and taken into consideration in the fixing of rates every

WU AND SUN TO BE ADMITTED TO THE SETTLEMENT

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Nov. 11.—A meeting of the Diplomatic Corps was held yesterday over the enquiry made by the Consular Body at Shanghai relating to what treatment should be accorded Dr. Sun Yat-sen and Marshal Wu Pei-fu in case they enter the Settlement of Shanghai. As a result of this meeting, it is reported that the Diplomatic Corps has come to the conclusion that in the event of Dr. Sun and Marshal Wu entering the Settlement single-handed without any troops or any intention to make the Settlement the base for political movements, there is no necessity of rejecting admittance to them.

SOVIET SPURNS TOKIO'S SCHEME; PARLEY HALTED

Negotiations Are Deadlocked Again; No Date Set For Resumption

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Nov. 11.—At today's meeting of the Japanese and Soviet delegates, M. Karakhan expressed his views regarding Japan's new proposals for a compromise.

The Soviet ambassador endeavored to stick to the original proposals of the Soviet Government, making no concession at all regarding various important subjects and maintaining a firm stand throughout.

In consequence, the conference was forced to adjourn at 9 o'clock tonight without any reference to when the next meeting will be held, thus bringing the Soviet-Japanese negotiations to a deadlock again.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 12.—The Japanese Legation on November 10 received the Government's reply to the latest Russian proposals concerning Northern Saghalien which, inter alia, offered to the Japanese Government a concession of 40 percent of known oil-fields, and fields that may be discovered during the next five years, in a defined area of 10,000,000? square versts, demanded the withdrawal of the Japanese troops a fortnight after signing the agreement and also that the Japanese Government should not recognise the Bessarabian protocol.

Mr. Yoshizawa held a conference with the Soviet plenipotentiary on November 10, and again yesterday evening when a deadlock

ANTI-FASCIST MOVEMENT IN ITALY GAINS IN STRENGTH

Combattenti Leading Drive Against Mussolini

BITTER FEELING

Outlook Is Troublous As Parliament Convenes

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, Nov. 11.—The Italian Parliament opens today with indications of troublous times ahead. The Opposition has published a strong manifesto to the nation reiterating its decision not to participate in parliamentary work so long as the situation which it denounced in June when it withdrew from Parliament after the Matteotti murder continues in an even more aggravated form. The manifesto claims that the Opposition represents the majority of the nation but that the power is illegally exercised by the minority.

Signor Mussolini, in a speech at the meeting of the Deputies of the majority parties, said that the Government intended to advance rapidly on the road towards normality. He denounced the action of the Opposition in absenting themselves from Parliament as unconstitutional. The Prime Minister emphasised that the Fascist Party had changed its constitution and that illegalities and acts of violence had diminished. He paid a tribute to the Government's foreign and domestic policy and emphasised the importance of colonial development schemes.

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, Nov. 11.—The growing opposition to the Fascist Government and its methods has been fanned by the Combattenti Association consisting of ex-service men. A collison between the two organisations a few days ago was followed by General Peppino Garibaldi, the leader of the Combattenti Association, expressing a desire to fight a duel with Signor Mussolini which, however, did not eventuate but General Balbo, the head of the Fascist Militia, has challenged General Garibaldi.

The Government has now prohibited all political meetings which the Combattenti Association declares is directed at them. The bitter feeling is intensified by a striking Combattenti Association appeal on the eve of the reassembling of the Chamber of Deputies attacking the Government in veiled terms. The manifesto declares that the Combattenti Association has never recognised any monopoly of patriotism and emphasises that the first and foremost duty is obedience to the law. It invites Parliament and the Government to see that violence ceases and law resumes its normal course for all.

Brilliant Ceremony Held As Popular Chinese Couple Is United In Holy Wedlock

Dr. W. L. New Joins Rank Of Benedicts By Marrying Miss Katherine Lau, Graduate Of Ohio State University

The 'smart set' of Shanghai's Chinese community was there when Dr. W. L. New, the popular Chinese surgeon, and Miss Katherine Lao, graduate of Ohio State and Oberlin College, were married at the Shantung Road Chapel yesterday afternoon. Long before the hour of the ceremony, the chapel was crowded to capacity. Many had to stand outside the chapel when the service was conducted.

The Rev. Ernest Box officiated and was assisted by the Rev. Mr. Li Fok-kong. Mr. Louis Tang, son of Mr. Tang Shao-yi, acted as best man, while the bridesmaid was Miss Kao. The Misses Nie and Yee were flower girls and Master Frederick Kuo served as page.

The bride received her preliminary education at the Beulah Chapel School and the Eliza Yates School. In 1919, she went to the United States and entered Oberlin, graduating in 1923. She took a post graduate course in music at Ohio State between 1923 and 1924.

At the wedding, the bride's gown was of white satin elaborately embroidered in pearls gracefully draped. As she walked up the aisle, one caught glimpse of a gleaming pink charmeuse lining.

Over her head she wore a wreath of orange blossoms which held her long tulle veil in place.

Fourteen hundred guests thronged the Great Eastern Hotel at the wedding banquet in the evening. A program of entertainments was staged. A goodly number of foreign guests were also present.

After the feast, a large number of the guests accompanied the couple to their new home on Bubbling Well Road where the health of the newly weds was again proposed by the enthusiastic guests and the bride delighted the audience with a piano solo.

Mr. and Mrs. New will leave for their honeymoon trip before the end of the week and will go to Hongkong for a short sojourn.

PENGUIN GIVEN RUSH ORDERS TO GO TO NANKING

Basketball Game Called Off As Gobs Are Hastily Summoned

A basketball team from the U. S. S. Penguin was on the gymnasium floor at the Navy Y. M. C. A. ready to play a Chinese team at seven o'clock last night and the starter was about to blow his whistle when an officer from the Penguin appeared on the floor and ordered the men on board ship, and ready to proceed to Nanking. Little news was available last night giving reasons for the sudden orders for the Penguin to proceed to Nanking, but it was thought to be due to the probable arrival today of Marshal Wu Pei-fu at that port and the possibility of disturbances resulting therefrom. The U. S. S. Blackhawk which is also in the Shanghai harbor is departing this morning, but whether its destination is also Nanking could not be learned.

That the situation has become tense in the Kiangsu capital has been indicated for several days in the movement of some 40,000 of Chang Tso-lin's forces down the Tientsin-Pukow Railway from Tientsin in the direction of Nanking. Reports yesterday were to the effect that that these troops which are now under the command of General Lu Yung-hsiang, former Chekiang leader, were nearing the border of Kiangsu Province at Hsuchowfu and since no resistance was expected from Marshal Chi Hsieh-yuan's forces under General Chen Tao-yuan stationed at that place, General Lu was expected to move on to Nanking without serious interruption.

Marshal Wu Pei-fu departed from Chefoo at noon last Monday and if nothing occurred to delay his ship, he would probably reach Nanking sometime today.

SCHENECTADY TO TRY BROADCAST TO CHINA TODAY

General Electric Station In New York Will Conduct Tests

The China General Edison Company of Shanghai received yesterday from the International General Electric Company of Schenectady, N. Y., a cable stating that an attempt is being made today to reach China by radio.

The radio station at Schenectady, N. Y., will broadcast this morning from five to seven o'clock using a wave-length of 380 meters, the station symbol being "W. G. Y."

The International General Electric Company is especially anxious to learn the results of its experiment and has asked the local company here to cable them in case any one here 'picks up" the message. A similar test is to be made again on November 20.

The difference in time between Shanghai and New York is approximately 12 hours which would make the receiving time for the radio message here between five and seven in the afternoon.

Shanghai radio fans interested in participating in the test have been asked to telephone Mr. H. C. Stone at the China General Edison Company, Telephone West 379 and 1701.

Mr. W. P. Lambe Resigns Seat On Municipal Council

Washington, Nov. 11.—In pursuance of the widespread contention that the United States is the only country carrying out the scrapping of capital ships which were placed out of commission by the Washington Treaties, Judge Hitz has issued an order designed to restrain Mr. Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy, from executing the plans to destroy the battleship Washington, which, it is suggested, should be converted into an aeroplane carrier.

PLAN ON EARLY RESUMPTION OF SOVIET PARLEY

Dr. Wang And Karakhan Will Reopen Negotiations Soon, Belief

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Nov. 11.—In order to accelerate the re-opening of the Sino-Soviet negotiations, Dr. C. T. Wang, Minister of Foreign Affairs, recently instructed Mr. Li Chia-ao, Chinese delegate in Moscow, to approach M. Chicherin in this connection.

It is now reported that M. Chicherin has of late given instructions to M. Karakhan that the Soviet Government has no objection to the reopening of the negotiations.

It is generally believed that the Mukden-Soviet agreement will naturally be rendered null and void of its own accord.

ATTITUDE OF FENGTIEN TROOPS CAUSES FLIGHT OF 'CHRISTIAN GENERAL'

Chang Tso-lin's Forces Pushing On In Order To Get Grip On Chihli And Shantung; Plans Of Yangtsze Provinces Still Doubtful Despite Messages Expressing Desire To Avert Further Warfare

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, Nov. 12.—The Fengtien troops having become imperious, General Feng Yu-hsiang and General Wang Cheng-ping have fled without leaving any traces.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tientsin, Nov. 11.—Circles in close touch with Marshal Tuan Chi-jui discredit the reported Yangtsze combine against the Anfu leader. They claim that the report is propaganda conducted by Mr. Wen Shih-tsen. A mandate has been issued depriving Mr. Wen of his office as Commissioner of Foreign Affairs in Shanghai and appointing in his place Mr. S. K. Chen. This mandate is expected to provide the acid test of General Chi Hsieh-yuan's intentions.

WU PEI-FU NOW ON WAY SOUTH; LEAVES CHEFOO

Marshal Chang Rushes Troops To Intercept Attempt To Reach Loyang

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, November 11.—Marshal Wu Pei-fu sailed for the South from Chefoo yesterday at noon. It is believed that he intends to land at Haichow Bay with the object of reaching Loyang via the Lunghai Railway but Marshal Chang Tso-lin is rushing troops to the South from Tientsin in order to occupy Hsuchowfu and intercept Marshal Wu's passage.

Although Marshal Tuan Chi-jui condemned the eviction of the emperor he is endeavoring to prevent an open rupture. The situation, however, offers fruitful possibilities of trouble, for General Feng Yu-hsiang's nominees in Peking are striving to consolidate the position of the emergency government, whereas Marshals Chang and Tuan, having benefited by General Feng's "betrayal," are obviously seeking a favorable opportunity to throw aside his machinery and lay their own foundations for a new Government.

(Eastern News Agency)

Chefoo, Nov. 11.—The Hua Chia, with Marshal Wu Pei-fu aboard, together with three transport vessels, the Peikiang, Peiho, and Peishing, left here southward last night at 9:30, while two Chinese men-of-war, Yungziang and Chaohe, also sailed south this morning about 1 o'clock.

Telegrams received last night purporting to come from General Chi Hsieh-yuan, General Sun Chuan-fang and General Hsiao Yao-nan assured Marshal Tuan of their desire for peace, but it is not clear, it is said, whether these are genuine expressions or are designed merely to gain time and to delay the despatch of troops from Tientsin and Peking to the south.

The Tuchuns of Kiangsi and Anhui and the Defence Commissioners of Hsuchowfu and Swatow and General Chen Chiung-ming and General Lin Hu have sent telegrams offering their allegiance to Marshal Tuan.

Marshal Chang Tso-lin, General Feng Yu-hsiang and General Lu Yung-hsiang met at Marshal Tuan Chi-jui's residence last night, but no serious problems were discussed.

A meeting of the commanders of Marshal Chang's and General Feng's units today discussed the stationing of their respective troops.

It is understood that at present General Feng will have charge of the railway from Langfang to Peking and that he will be prepared to proceed to Wuchang with General Hu Ching-yi's Shensi troops if necessary, while the Fengtien troops will hold the Mukden line and the northern sector of the Tientsin-Pukow line in preparation for an advance on Nanking.

Marshal Chang, it is stated, intends to station 30,000 men in Tientsin and the vicinity and a similar number at Shanhaikwan.

BOLSHEVIK INFLUENCE

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, Nov. 12.—A certain well-informed Chinese politician, with reference to the difficulties of the present situation, made a statement as follows:

"While Marshal Chang Tso-lin has already manifested his intention to recommend Marshal Tuan Chi-jui to the post of Commander-in-Chief of the allied troops throughout the country and also declared that he would act altogether in conformity with Marshal Tuan's instructions, General Feng Yu-hsiang, though he is to all appearance treating Marshal Tuan with great courtesy as if the latter had already assumed the post as Generalissimo of the "National Army," is not in reality so loyal to Marshal Tuan.

"In the meantime, Dr. C. T. Wang, apparently acting on General Feng Yu-hsiang's will, has establishd connection with those members of the Kuomingtang Party ,who are imbued with the Bolshevism, as well as with a portion of the faculties of the universities in Peking, devoting himself to plans for currying favor with the above radicals.

"This move on the part of General Feng and Dr. C. T. Wang is fundamentally incompatible with the wishes of Marshal Tuan Chi-jui and Marshal Chang Tso-lin.

Tsingtao Consuls Made Unwilling Accessories To Kao En-hung's Arrest

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tsingtao, Nov. 8.—Mr. Kao En-hung, ex-Governor of Kiaochow Territory, was decoyed from his temporary residence at the Grand Hotel late yesterday afternoon and immediately placed under arrest. Put under custody with him was Deputy-Governor Hsiao, acting civil administrator here. The latter was later released. Mr. Kao was hurriedly sent to Tsinan under armed guard. The manner of his arrest has evoked strong criticism of the present administration. Governor Wang Hanchang. Tsingtao's new Tupan, employed both the British Consul, Mr. A. G. Major, and the American Consul, Mr. Walter A. Adams, as unwilling accessories. The latter have protested strongly to their Diplomatic Representatives in Peking, and also to the local provisional administration.

After ex-Governor Kao had spent Wednesday night at the American Consulate, he took up his residence in the Grand Hote' on Thursday. The authorities were balked by the fact that the hotel is a Japanese-owned and Mr. Herlihy, British manager, out of friendship for Mr. Kao, stoutly refused to give him up, a warrant having been issued for the deposed Tupan's arrest. At the same time Mr. Herlihy engaged several private detectives to guard the ex-Governor.

ASK CONFERENCE

Thwarted thus far Governor Wang called on Mr. Adams requesting that he communicate with Mr. Major, British Consul, and asked whether the British Consulate might be used for a conference between Governor Wang and his predecessor, alleging that he wished to discuss the affairs of the Tsingtao City Bank.

Mr. Adams, suspecting nothing, complied with the request, and Mr. Major readily assented, neither consul having any suspicion of bad faith. The appointment was set for five o'clock and Mr. Major remained at the consulate waiting

Dismissal Of Wen Held Echo Of 'Little Hsu' Case

The dismissal of Mr. S. T. Wen, Commissioner for Foreign Affairs and Superintendent of Customs at Shanghai by a mandate issued at Peking has been forecast here ever since the downfall of General Wu Pei-fu and the rise of Marshal Tuan Chi-jui. Local adherents of the Anfu party, it is learned, had recommended Mr. Wen's dismissal to Dr. C. T. Wang, Minister for Foreign Affairs in the Peking cabinet which took office following Feng Yu-hsiang's coup d'etat. They charged that Mr. Wen had instigated the deportation from Shanghai of "Little" Hsu, Anfu leader, who is now in Hongkong.

Another name was suggested for the post of commissioner by the Anfuites at first, but in view of the experience of the Chevalier S. K. Chen, the Minister of Foreign Affairs apparently considered Mr. Chen better suited for the office.

Mr. S. K. Chen has been connected with the foreign office in Shanghai for 21 years and has handled the affairs admirably in spite of the many changes in the personnel of the head of the bureau. He is popular among the consular officials at Shanghai and is widely known among the foreign community. He has, on numerous previous occasions, been in charge of the bureau on account of the absence of his chief.

The consular body in Shanghai, despite the conflicting appointments, is still recognising Mr. S. T. Wen as Commissioner of Foreign Affairs in Shanghai, since he is still in possession of the seals. Until Mr. Wen surrenders his seals, it is understood, all official correspondence with be carried on with Mr. Wen.

Mr. Chen, it is understood, was not consulted before the promulgation of the presidential mandate and is still co-operating with Mr. Wen in carrying out the duties of Chief Secretary of the Bureau of Foreign Affairs at Shanghai.

A tea party will be given to newspapermen in Shanghai by Mr. Wen tomorrow afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock at the Union Club, 38 Avenue Edward VII. Mr. Wen is an honorary member of the Union Club.

troops, it seems very difficult for Marshal Tuan to enter the capital so easily as he expected, even though the Marshal has obtained support from various quarters. The question is how to cause General Feng's troops to withdraw from Peking and vicinity.

"Though Marshal Chang Tso-lin's plan of interfering in political affairs of the Central Government may be weakened provided he intends to further strengthen his position in the Three Eastern Provinces by securing conditions favorable to himself, the fact remains that his followers, with the force gathered by winning the victory over Marshal Wu's forces, are now in such an ecstasy that they find themselves unrestrained in dashing forward. For instance, General Li Ching-lin has begun to harbor ambitions to get hold of Chihli Province, while General Chang Tsung-chang is aiming at Shantung Province.

"On the other hand, General Wu Kuang-shin is reported to have voiced his intention to march down south after carrying Hsuchow, Kiangsu Province. In the eyes of these Fengtien military leaders, even General Feng Yu-hsiang is as nothing.

"Notwithstanding the fact that most of the military leaders of the Chihli faction such as General Chi Hsieh-yuan, General Sun Chuan-fang, General Tsai Cheng-hsun, and General Hsiao Yao-nan have conjointly issued a circular telegram declaring their allegiance to Marshal Tuan Chi-jui, it may easily be seen that they have established a firm union among themselves, and are planning to prevent with a united force the Northern influence from extending to the South. Such being the case, it is problematical whether these tuchuns in the Yangtsze Valley will really submit to Marshal Tuan."

FENG AND CHANG CALL

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, Nov. 11.—General Feng Yu-hsiang, General Lu Yung-hsiang, and Marshal Chang Tso-lin yesterday called on Marshal Tuan Chi-jui seperately, each asking Marshal Tuan for instructions about what steps they should take in future. Marshal Tuan, however, is reported to have expressed no concrete views in this respect, but merely thanked them for their services.

It is understood that arrangements appear to have been made among General Feng, General Lu, and Marshal Chang that they will conjointly ask for Marshal Tuan's instructions after first arriving at an agreement among themselves.

BURGLARS FLEE SHOTS; RUN INTO ARMS OF POLICE

One Man Captured Following Raid On Home Of Foreigner

After escaping two pistol shots, fired by Mr. J. Weidman, an employe of the Public Works Department, when he caught them in the act of burglarising his home at 606 Dixwell Road, two Chinese ran afoul of two Japanese police officers early yesterday morning. One was captured, while his companion escaped after a chase by one of the Japanese policemen.

Japanese Police Sergeant T. Hiral, attached to the North Szechuen Road station, was about to return to the station at 5:10 o'clock in the morning when he heard the two shots fired by Mr. Weidman. He ran up to the scene of the shooting, closely followed by Japanese Police Constable No. 35, and saw two Chinese running down Dixwell Road. The police officers gave chase, and Sergeant Hiral managed to capture one of the men. The other made his getaway, after a hot pursuit by the police constable.

When Sergeant Hiral arrived at the police station he found Mr. Weidman, who had come to report the burglary. Mr. Weidman told the police that he had been awakened by a noise in his bedroom. He looked up and saw two Chinese ransacking the room. Reaching under his pillow, he procured a pistol and fired two shots at the men, but neither shot took effect and the two men fled. Mr. Weidman identified the prisoner as one of the men and also identified as his a pair of trousers which had been dropped in the road by the burglars when the police chased them.

An armed robbery was reported to the Gordon Road police by the occupants of a dwelling at 607 Sinza Road. Three men, two of whom were armed with pistols, appeared at the back door, and after intimidating a boy and an amah, stole $14 in silver and a leather trunk filled with clothing, the property of a refugee family from Anhwei who occupied the lower floor of the building. Further loss was averted when the robbers were frightened away by the actions of the amah, who ran to a window and began shouting. The robbers made their escape in rickshas.

for the old governor and his successor to appear.

Mr. Kao, who has shown a resolute and undaunted front in the face of all the trying circumstances of the past few days, left the hotel by the central exit, little suspecting any plot. As he had just entered an automobile with Mr. Hsiao, a detective in the employ of the new governor shrilly sounded a whistle and soldiers who were in hiding behind a hedge and some shrubbery leaped upon the running-board of the car, one holding a rifle to the head of the chauffeur and commanding him to drive at once to a nearby police station. From there the car was driven to military headquarters. Presumably Mr. Kao faced the new governor there and learned that he was under arrest. He was rushed to the station under heavy guard just before the eight o'clock train left for Tsinan.

REPORT FORWARDED

A secretary of the governor called Mr. Major on the telephone and simply said, "I want to inform you that Mr. Kao is at military headquarters. The appointment is off."

The two Consuls immediately forwarded a full report to their respective Ministers and, in addition, Mr. Major wired to his H. B. M. Consul-General Tours in Tsinan, asking the latter to forward a protest to Tuli Cheng over the manner of Mr. Kao's arrest and requesting that he be accorded respectful treatment.

This morning Governor Wang sent a secretary to Mr. Major, with the word that the governor was ready to offer a suitable explanation. Mr. Major is reported to have sent back word that there was no explanation that the governor could make and the American Consul replied in the same terms.

SPAIN DIRECTS DRIVE AGAINST MOORISH REBELS

Extensive Operations Are Now Proceeding In Order To End Campaign

(Reuter's Service)

Madrid, Nov. 12.—Extensive operations are now proceeding in Morocco in pursuance of the Directory's resolve to bring the campaign against the Riffs to a conclusion, even though this involves some withdrawal from the enemy country. General Primo de Rivera, who has exchanged the Dictatorship of Spain for the High Commissionership of Morocco, is directing operations. He has boldly decided to fall back from the holy city of Sheshuan, 45 miles south of Tetuan to a new fortified line.

A communique in regard to the situation says that the Spaniards, supported by warships and aeroplanes, have provoked an engagement with a view to inflicting exemplary chastisement so as to facilitate subsequent retirement. In the course of hard fighting, the Spaniards lost 10 killed and 52 wounded.

The War Office has decided to postpone the disbandment of the 1921 Class and call the 1924 Class to the colors in order to pursue an inexorable campaign.

Chinese Claiming Chilean Citizenship Loses In Court

Five Generation Denaturalisation Question Argued In Mixed Court

Chinese citizenship proved stronger than Chilean citizenship yesterday in the Mixed Court.

Yang Hong-sung, claiming to be a Chilean citizen, was charged with issuing lottery tickets of the Central China Savings Society, Ltd., without a license.

A warrant for his appearance before the Mixed Court was presented.

Yang immediately claimed Chilean nationality. The question was presented whether Yang had been denaturalised. He had taken out Chilean registration papers in Shanghai. It was questioned whether he was born in China or Chile.

The assessor reminded him that Chinese law holds that it takes five generations before a man can be denaturalised, no matter where born. Return to China at any time makes the man a Chinese subject automatically.

Yang was ordered to bring proof of nationality before the court yesterday. The proof was not sufficient and a warrant will be issued for appearance in the Mixed Court.

Paris, Nov. 12.—Newspapers point out that the speeches of Mr. Stanley Baldwin and Mr. Austen Chamberlain at the Guildhall are for France, Belgium and the Little Entente as satisfactory as possible, because they certify that Anglo-French relations will develop in a cordial atmosphere and permit the hope that true peace will be established on the basis of the Treaties.

WEAR GAS MASKS AGAINST ROBBERS.

Railway mail clerks running out of Milwaukee, Wis., are shown wearing regulation U. S. Army gas masks, which are now a stipulated part of their equipment. The issue of the masks follows the sensational $2,000,000 railway registered mail robbery near Roundout, Ill., where the bandits used gas bombs to overcome the resistance of the mail clerks.

five years, and this being so, my directors are strongly of the opinion that the rates should be so fixed as to ensure a surplus and thus avoid a possible further increase in the tariff in five years' time."

Replying, on behalf of the Council, Mr. E. S. Benbow-Rowe, Acting Secretary, wrote that the Council did not consider it desirable or necessary to look further ahead than the five years already agreed upon in the negotiations with the company. The revision of charges, as suggested by the company, was approved. The Council requested that the following matters be incorporated in the formal agreement:

(a) Extension of Service beyond Settlement Limits.—

"A clause to be inserted in the agreement providing:—

"(1) That the Council shall be kept fully advised of any contemplated extension of the service beyond Settlement limits.

"(2) That no agreement shall be entered into by the Company for such a supply until the approval of the Council has been obtained.

"(3) That in the event of the Council being satisfied that an extension of the service beyond the limits of the Settlement is in the general interests of the ratepayers the Council may call upon the Company to enter into negotiations for such an extension on terms to be mutually agreed between the Company and the Council, always provided that the Company's privileges under the Tariff of Charges shall be in no way prejudiced.

(b) Increase of Capital.

"A clause to be inserted to the effect that any further capital monies that may be required by the Company shall be raised in such manner and on such terms as the Directors of the Company and the Council may mutually agree to be in the best interests of the subscribers to the service as ensuring the most economical administration of the Company's affairs.

"The Council considers a clause in the above will sufficiently meet the objects it has in mind, and will, moreover, overcome your Directors' objection to the rigid control of future share and debenture issues that was at first considered necessa...

(c) ..Issues of Shares at a Premium—

"A clause to be inserted to the effect that in the event of any issue of the Company's shares being made at a premium, the amount of such premium shall be credited to the General Reserve Account of the Company.

(d) Reserves.—

"A clause to be inserted to the effect that the Reserves of the Company shall be limited to an Equalisation of Dividends Account and a General Reserve Account, and that the amounts at credit of these accounts shall not at any time be capitalised.

"It is also considered advisable by the Council that the revised agreement now being drafted should be specifically referred to in the Company's Articles of Association."

Demons For Punishment— These Manila Bailarinas

They're demons for punishment down in Manila, advices indicate.

A couple of months ago one of the cabarets there staged a marathon dance contest with 11 couples starting and the last pair falling by the wayside after some 35 hours of keeping the feet moving to the latest Manila rendition of "Why Did I Kiss That Girl?"

A week hastened by and another cabaret staged its marathon with one couple sticking around 50 hours.

Came another week and a third dance palace staged its competition with one pair of Filipinos strutting their stuff for a trifle over 76 hours, breaking the world's record, 'twas claimed.

Now the original cabaret is planning a series of marathons. The folks out countryside, scattered through barrios, will be asked to forget the cockpit for one week-end and determine the long-time dancer of that section of the country.

Winners will be brought into Manila where a grand marathon will be staged under approved rules of the Amalgamated Marathon Dancers Guild of the United States.

And then after all that is finished and all couples but one have either fainted dead away or worn out all available shoes the Manila promoters hope to be able to import marathon contestants from surrounding ports—Shanghai, Hongkong, Singapore—in an effort to determine who shall represent the orient in the world congress of terpischorean artists.

An opportunity will soon be presented to Shanghai bailarinas and their ever-paying partners to determine Shanghai's strongest willed and limbed dancing couple, if Manila plans are followed through.

The Shanghai winning couple would go to Manila, accompanied by trainers, to compete against the best of other lands.

The only modest demands on the winning couple seem to be that they be able to stand up and keep moving for a slight stretch of a hundred hours or so, doing without sleep during the period and eating on the go. And after that to be able to do the thing several more week-ends until the final contest.

was reached, both asserting that they were unable to make further concessions. Japan demanded 60 percent of the oil-fields, and the withdrawal of troops two months after the signing of an agreement.

An agreement was reached regarding the period of the oil concessions, namely, from 40 to 50 years, but a number of minor points showed divergence of views.

The position at the present time is that negotiations can be reopened at the request of either side.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE AMONG CHINESE IS NOW UNDER WAY

Five Teams Entered And Schedule Arranged, Start Sunday

At a well-attended meeting at St. John's University Tuesday afternoon the All-Chinese Football League was officially launched. The formation of this league, with the Intercollegiate and Hong Leagues already under way, marks a new point in the development of western football among the Chinese here, and the growth of the sport will be further stimulated by this new step ahead.

Five teams are registered for the new league, and a full schedule has already been arranged, starting Sunday next with matches between the Three Culture Club and the Chinese Recs, and between Aurora University and the Southern University.

Mr. S. L. Sung, physical director at St. John's, presided over Tuesday's meeting, where questions regarding organisation, field, dates, fees, etc., were discussed. The Southern University, Union Club, Three Culture Club, Chinese Recreation Club, and Aurora University were represented, and entered for the League.

On the question of grounds, it was remarked that during the past few years difficulty has been encountered in securing good football grounds, but with the completion of Pioneer Field this handicap no longer exists. This field gives Shanghai players a first-class ground on which to play besides which here are two other fields available, the Aurora University grounds and the Three Culture Club's field at Kiaochow Road.

A silver cup has been donated for the League champions, Mr. Liu, of Young Brothers' Trading Corporation, being the donor.

KEEN CONTESTS EXPECTED

Every game is expected to be keenly contested, as the teams enlisted are of the first order, and each is confident of coming out victorious and carrying home the bacon.

It was decided at the meeting that Sunday should be the official date for games; that each team should play each other team twice; that the date of a game could be changed by competing teams, provided that it should not conflict with other scheduled games or be later than January 4, when the League season ends. The point system of reckoning League standing was also decided on; 2 points for win, 1 for draw, 0 for loss.

Mr. K. V. Voong was elected secretary. He is located at 44 Markham Road (Telephone West 2490), and is in a position to supply any further information required.

The League schedule arranged is as follows:

FIRST ROUND

November 16—Aurora University vs. Southern University; Three Culture Club vs. Chinese Recs Club.

November 23—Aurora University vs. Union Club; Three Culture Club vs. Southern University.

November 30—Aurora University vs. Three Culture Club; Union Club vs. Chinese Recs Club.

December 7—Aurora University vs. Chinese Recs Club; Southern University vs. Union Club.

December 14—Southern University vs. Chinese Recs Club; Union Club vs. Three Culture Club.

December 21—Aurora University vs. Southern University; Three Culture Club vs. Chinese Recs Club.

SECOND ROUND

December 25—Union Club vs. Aurora University; Southern University vs. Three Culture Club.

December 28—Three Culture vs. Aurora University; Union Club vs. Chinese Recs Club.

January 1—Aurora University vs. Chinese Recs Club; Southern University vs. Union Club.

January 4—Southern University vs. Chinese Recs Club; Union Club vs. Three Culture Club.

BASKETBALL GAME OFF

The basketball game which was scheduled for last night between the Chinese Amateurs and the U.S.S. Pigeon quintet was postponed owing to the departure of the American ship. The sailors will be back here again, however, and will probably arrange a game later on at the Y.M.C.A.

"The Minute Man," Weekly Bulletin, Reports Good Work

This week's issue of "The Minute Man," the weekly bulletin of the American Company, S.V.C., is just at hand. In addition to Company orders, etc., it includes an account of the Company's Annual Rifle Meet November 2, reported exclusively in THE CHINA PRESS on Tuesday, November 4. We take this opportunity to call attention to a typographical error in our account by which Capt. Olsen's name was omitted as winner of Event 1, A Class, with a score of 60, Corp. Jenkins and Private Hutchinson were second and third respectively in this event, with scores as reported in our paper.

The Baldwin Pistol Cup Competitions for September and October were postponed owing to the recent activities of the Corps. These are not to be dropped, however, and are being fired this month, the September shoot on November 19 and the October on November 26. The November Competition will be fired December 3. All these are on the Rifle Range, from noon to 1:00 p.m.

The bulletin also contains a notice of the Shanghai Revolver Club's .45 caliber pistol championship meet this month, at Avenue Haig and Route de Say Zoong, the first instalment of S.M.P. Inspector Fairbairn's instructions on the use of the .45 Colt automatic, and other interesting material.

Eugenie And Leopold Premyslav

Two excellent artists, Eugenie and Leopold Premyslav, gave their first concert here at the Town Hall last night. Probably on account of the counter-attractions, the audience was not as good as it might have been, but what they lacked in numbers they made up in enthusiasm, and the two Polish artists were heartily applauded, both being called upon for encores, which they graciously gave.

The first number on the program, Bruch's "Scotch Fantasy," was given by M. Premyslav, who is a violinist of unusual talent, and plays with skill and feeling. The second number, on the program as Boellman's "Variations Symphoniques," was changed to Saint Saens "Concerto in A Minor," Mme. Premyslav's 'cello rendition of this being well received.

After the interval a number of shorter pieces were played, the final number being Handel's "Passacaglia," for violin and cello, which was very well given, and was really the finest performance of the evening, these two artists having thoroughly mastered the art of playing in perfect harmony. As an encore, they gave a Weber duo, concluding the evening.

Mr. A. Hmelnitzky ably accompanied the artists on the piano in the solo numbers.

Boxing Notes

By Harvard

With the big affair last Monday night, having a real live champ in the ring at the Carlton and that remarkable slugging match between Andrade and Volaire, it is figured that quite enough has been done for one week, so there will be no boxing tonight.

Next week, however, is due the fighting event for which every fan in Shanghai has been waiting—the return match between Rufe Canion and Leonardo Garcia. These two splendid boys fought the finest bout ever seen in Shanghai when they last met, and next week's battle may be expected to show some more fireworks.

Canion, of course, is definitely on the up grade. He has whipped nearly every boy he has met in the ring here, and those whom he has failed to whip he has sent to the hospital. So fast has this boy developed that many fail to realise how far he has gone, and even veteran Matty Smith, who knocked out Tingle here last winter, and who has seen Canion in action here a dozens times since then, sadly underestimated the Filipino boy, as he found out to his cost.

Canion, however, got a badly cut lip from Smith, which has barely healed, and it is said that it was cracked open a bit last Sunday when he sparred with Villa at the Stadium. He is expected to be in shape next week, however, and he will have to be to meet Leonardo, who is a very fine boy. Canion was in splendid shape when he last fought Garcia, but he had to fight his hardest, and unless he gets into the very best of condition Garcia is going to lick him. Pride goeth before a fall, and Rufe should beware of becoming over-confident.

Garcia, of course, is always in shape. Married life doesn't appear to have interfered with his training a bit. Not that we like to make any insinuations, but Leonardo's splendid condition in the ring recently indicates that he has a good bit of sparring practice which nobody knows anything about.

In general, however, Garcia is very good. He has taken care of all the boys his weight here, with the single exception of Johnny Hill, the title-holder. Hill seems to be his master, but Garcia is not easy pickings even for Johnny, and if the southpaw puts up exhibitions such as his most recent ones in Manila, Leonardo may come back at him again and slip one over on him.

With regard to Canion, though, Garcia is going to have his hands full. Rufe has got a wallop which can register knockouts with increasing success as he gets it under control. Garcia has the advantage of being in training at all times, and has something on Rufe in height and reach. On the whole, too, Garcia is really a more clever fighter. He hardly has a punch that will settle Canion, however, and his chance to win is mainly a chance to land more frequently and duck more returns than the younger boy.

Speaking of Hill, Johnny hasn't done anything very startling since returning to Manila, though he has gone up against some pretty good boys and taken care of himself well. He fought Kid Moro twice, the first fight being adjudged a draw, though Johnny said he was in bad condition at the time.

Both boys wanted a return engagement, and got it, but it was rather disappointing, as both of them wrestled, pushed, and butted through most of the twelve rounds of the bout. Hill cut loose two or three times, and once had Moro about punch-groggy, but failed to land a knockdown. He was given the decision, though the fight was a slow one, and in fact was referred to as one of the poorest main events presented there.

Moro, however, appears to have been the main offender, and was referred to as "the champion dirty fighter" for his showing in this match. Hill blamed the whole wearisome tempo of the fight on the Moro, who he said refused to open up and fight. Johnny came forward with a challenge to the featherweight champion of the Philippines, Tenebro Santos, and to Francisco Flores as well.

There are some big bouts on tap, however, and though Johnny appears to be rightfully in line to fight for the featherweight title, his slow exhibition with Kid Moro has resulted in his being put on the waiting list until after the other events.

In the meantime, however, Johnny is due to come up to Shanghai to defend his featherweight title here. If Canion licks Garcia next week the youngster will be a proper claimant for the featherweight championship, while if Garcia succeeds in standing up to Rufe for the twelve rounds he will be fully entitled to challenge Hill again. Whatever the result of next week's battle, the featherweight title is the next thing in line. It is doubtful if we can see anything finer than the Garcia-Canion fight, if the boys go to it as they did the last time, but we are going to see one or two real battles, and at the end find out who is the real featherweight champion of China.

World's Series Gate $1,093,104; Sets New Record

Washington, Oct. 10.—A new record for world's series receipts was established by the Giants and Senators. Figures for the seven games, $1,093,104, exceed by $38,289 those of the only other million-dollar series, the six-battle contest between the Giants and Yankees in New York last year.

Washington players will divide $148,991.63 of the total fund, and New York will split $99,327.75. The remaining 25 percent of the total players' share will be divided among the second and third place clubs in each league.

The Washington melon will be split into twenty-six shares of $5,730 each. Manager Harris announced after a meeting of players which followed the game. Miller and Taylor, substitute infielders, and Al Schacht, coach, each will receive two-thirds of a share and the twenty-four remaining portions will be equally divided among the other players, Coach Nick Altrock and Trainer Mike Martin. Lump sums will be donated by the players to Wade Lefler, outfielder, who was ineligible for the series, to the clubhouse boy and to the Senators' bat boy.

The approximate figure for each of the twenty-six men on the Giant eligible list, including Coach Jennings, is $3,820.

Calendar Mix-Up Brings Light Fine

Foreign calendar reckoning makes a girl 15 years old when she has passed that many years as known to the European or American.

The Chinese reckon age in another manner.

All of which caused Woo Lansan, sing-song house keeper at 489 Kiangse Road, to appear before the Mixed Court yesterday to answer to charges of permitting Ah Woong, 14 years old by foreign calendars, to frequent the premises.

Woo said the girl was old enough. The court thought differently. The assessor suggested that the law should be made a little more explicit on the question of years. The girl was turned over to her father's keeping. The sing song house keeper was fined $15.

PROFESSIONALISM IN LAWN TENNIS ARE NOW ON INCREASE

New Development Notes In Great Britain Since 1919

There has been a good deal of discussion recently regarding the professional championship of Great Britain at lawn tennis, and it is a matter of considerable interest to the game, for whereas a few years ago the professionals could be counted on the fingers of two hands there are now a considerable band, and they are increasing in numbers rapidly. Until 1919 there was no professional championship. For that year D. M. Macleod, than whom there is no keener enthusiast, presented a fine cup, and a little later the association drew up articles and conditions for the matches.

While they had no previous experience of challenge matches at lawn tennis to help them, they had the conditions which had obtained for many years in tennis and rackets and more recently in squash rackets.

Charles Hierons (Queen's Club) issued a challenge, and no one took it up that year he became champion. The next year Charles Read (Queens Club) challenged him, and won a decisive victory in two matches at Hurlingham and Roehampton. The stake for the matches was $500 a side, a by no means large amount in comparison with many that were played for in pact racket or tennis matches. Read held the title unchallenged until this year. Long intervals between professional championship matches had been commonplaces at tennis and rackets, where one man stood out ahead of his rivals.

Thus at tennis no championship match was played between 1862 and 1885; the next came in 1890 and the next in 1895. But at the beginning of this century, when there were two or three players of nearly equal strength, there were matches each year from 1904 to 1907, and again in 1909.

But those responsible for the management of the lawn tennis professional championship thought that matches should be more frequent, and that it would be an incentive if they greatly reduced the stake money which it was necessary for a player to put up.

This they proceeded to do, and they did not perhaps realise that there were distinct drawbacks to this curse, or that the experience of trying small stakes at tennis and rackets had proved unworkable.

In this instance a challenge was received from F. W. Donisthorpe, and at once an unsatisfactory position arose. Read, as was only natural, was not willing to defend his title for a paltry sum which would actually have left him out of pocket, and the great majority of his colleagues supported him in his contention. And so one gets an impasse.

Donisthorpe has gained the title of champion without having had the chance to show whether or not he were the better player and the title of champion is a valuable asset. Moreover, the position might be made worse. It would be quite within the rights of a young professional of no standing as a player to challenge Donisthorne for the championship match, or at least having challenged for the championship.

NEW RECORDS FOR TY COBB; GREATEST STAR IN BASEBALL

Bats Over .300 For 18th Successive Year; Ruth's 46 Homers

Chicago, Saturday, Oct. 1.—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, leader of the Detroit Tigers, winding up his nineteenth year as a major league star, today stands out as the greatest record-breaker in baseball.

The Georgia Peach, never out of the select .300 class in hitting with the exception of his first year in the major league, 1905, is finishing the 1924 race as the only player in major league history who has batted above .300 for eighteen consecutive years. Cobb's average today, with the season drawing to a close is .337. Last year he was runner-up to George Sisler for the 1923 championship.

When Hans Wagner passed out of the National League in 1913, he left behind him a record of having batted .300 or better for seventeen years.

200 HITS A YEAR

Another record held by Cobb, which previously was shared with Willie Keeler, that of making two hundred hits or more for eight years, has been broken, Cobb has passed the 200 hit mark again this season, making it his ninth year in which he has collected 200 hits or more.

Cobb has scored 100 or more runs a year for nine years and this year he has scored 107 runs.

Babe Ruth, although thirteen homers behind his record of 59, leads the league with 46 circuit clouts. He also leads as a run-getter, having registered 142 times.

Eddie Collins of the White Sox is the base stealing champion of the league, with a total of 42 thefts.

Ruth, the champion batter of the league, has an average of .379. Charley Jamieson of Cleveland has displaced Falk of Chicago for the honors of runner up, having a mark of .357 to Falk's .351.

Other leading batters are E. Collins, Chicago, .349; Bassler, Detroit, .347; Speaker, Cleveland, .346; Goslin, Washington, .343; Miller, Philadelphia, .339; Rice, Washington, .338; Cobb, Detroit, .337; Hellmann, Detroit, .337.

HORNSBY LEADS IN NATIONAL

Rogers Hornsby of St. Louis, repeating as 1924 batting champion of the National League, settled down to a steadier pace in hitting, hovering around the .420 mark, which he hopes to beat before the close of the season, thus setting a new high record for modern baseball.

The high mark of .420 is jointly held by Ty Cobb and George Sisler. Hornsby's latest average is .421. In hitting, Zack Wheat, Brooklyn veteran, established himself as a runner-up to Horsby. Zack is batting .372, fourteen points ahead of Ross Young of the Giants.

Jack Fourier of Brooklyn is leading the National League's home run hitters with 27.

The Giants, four-time champions of the National League, top the league in hitting with .300.

"A Full House" Finishes Season With Good Success

"A Full House" finished its season last night at the Carlton Theater with the players scoring even greater successes than in the two previous nights.

A fitting tribute was paid to the players at the close of the play when fourteen baskets of flowers, one for each member of the cast, were handed over the footlights.

The comedy brought just as many laughs last evening as it did in previous performances. Mrs. Gardner Crane as Susie was perhaps the most applauded.

The American Women's Club deserves the appreciation of the entire community in presenting a play that was as smoothly given as a New York presentation at its 100th performance.

Cooking Slur On Mrs. Coolidge Is Resented

New York, Oct. 8.—Republican women in many quarters expressed indignation yesterday over the recent speech of Miss Elizabeth Marbury in which she referred to "milkpail stuff" and the stories about Mrs. Coolidge baking biscuit and making a shirtwaist for $1.69. Their remarks covered all aspects of the case from the good taste of the attack to the fact that the unaffected simplicity of the President's home life constitutes one of his great holds on the trust of the American people.

Friends of Mrs. Coolidge pointed out that there was no question of "fooling people," as Miss Marbury called it, but that the people of a nation had a right to know the kind of personality to whom they had intrusted their government, and for that reason publicity beat always upon the White House and its mistress, as well as upon the public acts of the President.

DOESN'T COOK IN WHITE HOUSE

No one thinks that Mrs. Coolidge makes biscuits regularly in the White House, but if during her vacation she found recreation in turning her hand to the simple domestic duties of the average home thousands of American women will like her the better for it, it was asserted.

Miss Laura Skinner, who has known the President and Mrs. Coolidge for years, said that she had been surprised to see Miss Marbury's remarks about "milkpail stuff," as she had never heard of such a picture.

"I do not know the particular pictures to which Miss Marbury referred," said Miss Skinner, "and I do know that pictures were used in the 1920 campaign and since then which were taken long previous to that and had no relationship to the incident which they were supposed to be illustrating. There was, for example, a picture of Mrs. Coolidge making a pie—which had been taken years before during a piemaking contest.

SHARES EXPERIENCES OF MAJORITY

"However, knowing as I do that Mrs. Coolidge does know how to make biscuit and shirtwaists, and that very likely she can milk a cow, I say that these are the very things that have called forth the loyalty of American women to her. The mistress of the White House may not be called upon to make biscuit or perform any other domestic duties, but the fact that she has lived as the great majority of American women and has had the experiences of housekeeper and mother, and that now she is in the White House she has no hesitancy in referring to these things, marks her as a woman of sound character. It has never occurred to her to make any attempt to separate herself from her earlier life. Her ability to preside with charm over the White House and then to step back to the little home in Plymouth and to live there in those simple surroundings with the same grace, have won her the admiration and trust of the American women.

"As for publicity, the wife of the President must undergo publicity about her home life. Mrs. Coolidge does not welcome this, but she realises that it is necessary in her position as mistress of the White House."

Miss Helen Varick Boswell, chairman of the New York County Republican women, said:

"Mrs. Coolidge is a woman of the most excellent judgment and taste. She would never express herself or exploit herself in any way that is not compatible with what we all feel the woman presiding in the White House should be. I take it that no American woman of any condition in life is going to object to any other American woman having skill with either fingers or brain, or to her using both."

The simple home life maintained by the Coolidge family in the White House was pictured recently by Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee. Telling the story from the lips of a woman who dined last spring at the White House, when there was no thought of publicity, she quoted:

"A blackcoated butler was in attendance, but a son of the house drew out his mother's chair.

"Six of us sat down together, four of the name of Coolidge. And instead of martial strains, floating in from the portico, the first sound to meet my ear was the quiet voice of the nation's Chief Executive: 'Mr. S—, will you say grace?'

"The two Coolidge boys had just returned from school. Even then the faced of Calvin jr., showed the pallor of his approaching illness, but I attributed it to the strain of the school examinations of which he spoke. In the eyes of the boys shone hope of good home cooking, after months of absence. Recalling the chef in the White House kitchen, I felt a throb of pity for the expectant lads.

REAL CUSTARD PIE

"But my sympathy was wasted. The main dish of the dinner was a thick, juicy beefsteak, perfectly broiled and entirely surrounded by French fried potatoes. And for dessert we had custard pie—none of your thin, French pastry pies, but one whose golden custard was nearly two inches thick and smooth as cream.

"All four of the Coolidges displayed a frank interest in this pie, not because they come from New England, but because the White House cook used the recipe supplied by Aurora, housekeeper for Grandfather Coolidge on his Vermont farm.

"'It is not yet as good as Aurora makes,' explained Mrs. Coolidge, 'but each time it is better. We have hopes.'"

DETERMINATION OF THE PIONEER

"We've started for Oregon and that's where we are going." These words of Jesse Wingate, leader of the wagon train in "The Covered Wagon", now playing at the Garden Pier Theatre are really the crux of the whole picture. In the face of countless adversities, and of numerous pleas to turn back, Wingate shows the determination and the stubbornness of the pioneer and keep to his purpose.

It is this spirit, this indominable courage of the pioneers that so thrills every real American today. The years 1848-49 are as deeply stamped in American history, perhaps, as any other period, even including that of 1776. The story of the sweep across the continent for the opening of Oregon and the wresting of gold from California is one of the romantic chapters of western chronicle to which every human being of the iron-railed and paved-street age responds.

The men, women and children of 1848-49 lived an epic, and it is the spirit of this epic, the magnitude and meaning and vivid reality of it, that James Cruze and his associates have caught and preserved in "The Covered Wagon".

Episodes like the fording of the Platte, the prairie fire, the Indian attack, the struggles through summer heat and winter snows—all these are engrossing and thrilling and in an ordinary picture they would stand out as huge feats of screen drama—but in "The Covered Wagon" they are merely parts of the whole, incidents in the great epic of determination.

Y.M.C.A.'s In America Have Record Increase In Membership During Year

Data available on 1,693 Young Men's Christian Associations in the United States and Canada, reporting for the 1924 Year Book and Official Roster, just issued, show the past association year to take rank with, and in several important directions to exceed, the record year of 1921. George B. Hodge, who has directed the collection and classification of association information for many years states that "the reported volume and quality of association work as a whole has been the largest and best in association history, and much larger than we anticipated."

The largest annual increase in membership recorded is shown in a gain of 9.5 percent. The total membership of the reporting associations is 983,522, of which 244,9 are boys.

A gain of 18 percent to 134,977 in the number of men and boys in swimming and life saving classes, and a gain of 10.3 percent to 11.94 in the number of men under leadership instruction in physical education classes, are the features of an expanding year in the physical work of the Associations, here was a total of 349,307 differnt men and boys in gymnasium classes, a gain of 3.1 percent.

The rapidly increasing interest in organised outdoor activities is indicated by the total of 90,692 men and boys who spent two weeks or more in Y. M. C. A. camps. This is an increase of nearly 16 percent. If there were added to this the men and boys in camps in countries abroad where the serice is under the American Y. M. C. A. leadership, the total would be largely increased.

BIBLE CLASSES

Marked increse in the number of men and boys affiliated with Y. M. C. A. Bible classes is reported. A total of 232,943 for the year is a gain of 24,000, or 11.5 percent. Aggregate attendance at Bible and religious meetings reached approximately 9,549,000, an increase of 11.6 percent.

Endowment funds increased by 8.3 percent to 17,308,000, while the property debt increased by only 6.6 percent. An increase of net Association property to $159,521,000—3 percent in the year—indicates the volume of property additions and is believed to mark the end of the deflation period of 1922-23.

In a foreword Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the International Committee, Y. M. C. A. states that at the present time the Building Bureau of the Committee is retained on some 75 building projects, and points to the multiplication of branch buildings both in large and middle-sized cities and the evolving of building plans and projects for cities or isolated communities of under 15,000 inhabitants. The Financial Service Bureau of the Committee, he says, further reports campaigns for funds for new buildings and for clearing off building indebtedness aggregating over $14,000,000. "It is a striking fact," Dr. Mott adds, "that in spite of all criticism and other handicaps, the Associations today are raising sums which before the war would have seemed absolutely impossible." The latest "impossibility" is $3,000,000 subscribed by St. Louis citizens of all ranks and creeds for a city-wide Y. M. C. A. development program.

WORK IN FOREIGN LANDS

Most of the Y. M. C. A. work in many of the countries of Europe is an outgrowth of war-time activities. In some places, the Association work has been entirely transferred to national control, American secretaries acting largely in an advisory capacity. In foreign countries outside of Europe and the Near East, the 384 Associations directly related to the American movement have a total membership of 125,000.

"The various local boards and National Committees in many of these foreign lands," says Dr. Mott, "have achieved such strength that it may be truthfully said that the early vision which commanded us when we entered upon the foreign work—that of developing autonomous, independent, self-supporting movements—is fast being realised."

Canton, Nov. 11.—Rumor had it for some time past that General Hsu Shou-tseng, "Little Hsu," whose movements, since his arrival in Hongkong from Shanghai, have attracted much attention of political circles, especially after the political change in Peking, would change his plan and return to Tientsin, but judging from the fact that he has lately addressed letters of farewell to Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Mr. Hu Han-min, and others, it seems probable that he will shortly sail for Europe as previously arranged.

New York, Nov. 11.—Armistice Day was observed throughout the country. Patriotic ceremonies were held in most cities and the two minutes' silence was observed on the signal by bugle and taps wirelessly broadcast. There were special services in churches, parades of troops and military balls.

President Coolidge visited the Unknown Warrior's tomb in the Arlington Cemetery. Crowds went on a pilgrimage to Arlington where hundreds of wreaths were deposited. Wreaths were also deposited on the tomb of Ex-President Wilson.

London, Nov. 11.—Armistice Day was celebrated here in fine weather. The great silence was most impressive, millions standing bareheaded for two minutes while all traffic ceased. The crowd at the Cenotaph was a record. A packed mass of people extended from Trafalgar Square to Old Palace Yard. Warm sunshine, which is unusual in November, lit up the splashes of color in which the whites of wreaths and the reds of Flanders poppies were prominent. The Cenotaph stood out in the clear air amid a rectangle of troops and ex-service men with the massed bands of the Guards. The Queen watched the ceremony from the window of a Government office.

Walter Hines Page Memorial Lecture Course Is Started

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 11.—Sir Auckland Geddes today delivered at Westminster the first Walter Hines Page Memorial Lecture founded by the English-Speaking Union in memory of the late American Ambassador to Britain. The audience of 2,000 included the Premier, diplomats, and representatives of the Dominions.

The Earl of Balfour, who presided, paid a very high tribute to the late Mr. Page and dwelt on his belief that the future of the world largely depended upon friendly Anglo-American co-operation.

Sir Auckland Geddes emphasised that America profoundly influenced the British Empire and some of the sister Dominions, particularly those looking out on to the Pacific.

"THE STREET"

CINEMA
"The Street" is another addition to the number of pictures which provide a welcome contrast to conventional screen drama. It is an outstanding contribution to the film art.
"PEOPLE"
The producer, who made "The Street" is a man who can visualise words and can turn literature into picture. A man in a mood; a desire for this-for that-music-girl-is it fair? He has hit upon the highly effective method of presenting thoughts pictorially. It is a wonderful production.
"DAILY TELEGRAPH"
Without doubt the most significant contribution yet made to the art of the silent drama.
"DAILY EXPRESS"
"The Street" is the most comprehensive study of psychology yet portrayed upon the screen.—It is one of the most ambitious efforts in sincere realism yet achieved.

TAX BURDENS OF FUKIEN INCREASE TENFOLD IN YEAR

Militarists Force Planting Of Poppy; Then Make Heavy Levies

(China Press Correspondence)

Hinghwa, Fukien, Nov. 4.—Last year the various assessments levied upon the people equalled more than ten years of ordinary taxes. Government loans, taxes on house deeds, taxes for roads that did not materialise, taxes on chickens, pigs, fruit, etc., taxes on marriage festivities, taxes on everything have reduced the people almost to starvation. The Salt Yamen soldiers force the people to buy so many loads of salt per year. They can in turn sell it if they can or throw it away. Government seizures on varied pretexts always resulting in a heavy money fine have formed another source of income.

The most prominent extra-legal method of the past year for increasing government revenues was the enforcement of poppy planting upon the farmers. Although most of the Hinghwa farmers refused to plant yet they had to pay the poppy tax just the same. In this way Wang Bang-bang secured funds for buying arms and ammunition for augmenting his forces with the aim of controlling Fukien. However General Sun Chuan-fang of present fame in the fight around Shanghai got the drop of General Wang and seized his new purchases of arms and ammunition. These he used in his campaign against Chekiang.

The collecting of the poppy tax resulted in the death of a number of the farmers and has brought untold misery upon the country.

Just now we are approaching the season for planting poppy which is a winter crop corresponding with the wheat crop. The Foochow government has already appointed officials to take in hand the carrying out of the enforcement of this tax here. The method consists of a campaign of first enforcing the farmers to plant poppy instead of wheat and secondly to collect a heavy assessment upon the poppy fields. For this county alone there are over twenty under-deputies who are now starting out to order the farmers to plant.

The same method has been instituted in Sienyu county to the west of us. The Foochow Government has informed that county that it must have $800,000 out of the poppy tax this year. This gives us some light on where the funds come from for carrying on the present wars.

The men used by the government on the other hand demand big pay for dirty work. The people have to stand this expense also. The whole result is the enrichment of a few while the masses are ground down into poverty.

The economical condition encourages banditry. A ride or a pistol takes the place of the hoe or the carrying stick. It proves a shorter cut to wealth. This becomes another drain upon the masses. Entire sections of the country live in constant dread of a visit of the government soldiers by day and a visit from the bandits by night. Thus there is no time when they can feel safe. One cannot imagine a more complete state of misery than that which the War Lords of China are developing.

Ancient Canal Lock Was Designed By Da Vinci

In digging up a French garden at Vierzon Abbey the other day, the workmen chanced upon the remains of a canal lock which had been designed and built by Leonardo da Vinci. Constructed in the reign of Louis XII., it is believed to be the oldest sluice lock in France. On searching, the old records it has been discovered that the French King was anxious to have ships brought in with salt water, and that Leonardo successfully solved the problem by employing an arm of the River Yevre and constructing a lock of four meters, or less than 12 feet, in width—a prodigious undertaking for the period. Leonardo's skill in engineering incidentally was comparable to his genious in painting and sculpture.

The discovery of the lock recalls the fact that several countries claim the distinction of having solved this problem in hydraulic engineering. The building of canals had progressed rapidly both in Holland and France at this period, and it is probable that the lock appeared in both countries at about the same period. It is claimed that the "Grand Canal" of China, completed in the fourteenth century, was equipped with locks of modern design, and Marco Polo on returning from his travels reported that the Chinese raised vessels from one level to another.

Despite the progress in modern hydraulic engineering, no plan has been devised to improve upon the locks of the earliest engineers. In building the great locks of steel and concrete at Panama for raising and lowering great warships and ocean liners, the principle has remained exactly the same. In the modern locks, as in the canals of the Middle Ages, boats are locked in a basin of water and the gates open on a lock or basin at another level when the waters of the two locks find a common level, and the boat, whatever its size, floats gently up or down. The clumsy wooden locks used centuries ago raised and lowered diminutive craft for a few feet. The great steel gates of the Panama Canal, for all their complicated machinery, work on exactly the same principle.

Countless plans have been devised for solving this ancient problem. To avoid the expense of building locks, canals at different levels have often been connected by ramps, and the boats laboriously hauled up these inclines. Several of these old inclines are still to be found in the United States, one but a few miles from New York, though long fallen into disuse.

Canals were used for thousands of years before the discovery of the sluice lock. It is not generally realised that they are one of the oldest achievements in engineering. It is known that the Egyptians developed an efficient system of canals along the Nile some ten thousand years ago. The Red Sea and Mediterranean Sea were connected by a canal centuries before de Lesseps, or, to be exact, in 1350 B. C., and was operated for some fifteen hundred years, when it was destroyed for military reasons. Babylon owed its wealth largely to its canals, which were first built as early is 1760 B. C., and were afterward restored by Nebuchadnezzar in 600 B. C. Thousands of years have had to pass, however, before it occurred to the hydraulic engineers to build the sluice lock.

Pp. XIX and 365. Net Price $6.00 Mex.

This book is recently published by the China Trade Bureau, New York, and commanding a large market in America. It contains an exhaustive discussion on the past, present and future of the trade relations between the United States and China in four parts and eighteen chapters. The author devotes much attention to the individual articles of imports and exports, and also to the British, Japanese, German and other competitions with American commercial interests in China. The value of this book can be realized from the following comment made by the China Weekly Review in one of its editorials (Aug. 16, 1924; pp. 355-6.).

"We wish it were possible to reproduce the book completely in the columns of the Review, but that is impossible; so the next best thing is to recommend its careful perusal by merchants and also by officers interested in the changes and transitions taking place in this market. Without question, it is one of the most significant works on this subject which has appeared in recent years."

Canada A Formidable Competitor of United States Flour Export Trade

Last Decade Shows Tremendous Canadian Increase; U. S. Exports To Asia Outstanding Feature; Canada Gets Best Part of Europe's Trade

During the fiscal year 1923-1924 the exports of flour from the United States showed an increase of 61 percent over prewar figures from 10,678,000 to 17,253,000 barrels. The Canadian exports for the same period increased 218 percent, from 3,832,000 to 12,184,000 barrels, according to the Foodstuffs Division of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

During the pre-war period the United States exported a larger volume of flour than Canada to 30 different countries, while Canada exported more flour to only 5 countries. Although the United States exported 61 percent more flour in 1924 than pre-war, the increase in the exports of Canadian flour has been so rapid that by 1924 our northern competitor actually exported more flour to 17 of the principal importing countries than did the United States.

The number of countries whose chief source of flour supply is the United States was cut to 21 in 1924. During 1923, Canada gained the trade of Poland, Esthonia, Denmark, Jugoslavia and Jamaica and in 1924 more flour was sent from Canada to Germany, Norway, Latvia and Egypt than from the United States. To these twelve countries, the United States exported during the pre-war period 4,175,000 barrels of flour compared with 2,789,000 from Canada to these destinations. By 1924, however, the exports from the United States to these same countries had fallen o 3,568,000 barrels, while Canadian exports had increased to 8,167,000. The loss suffered by the United States from these 12 countries which at one time looked to her for the major portion of their flour requirments amounted to 507,000 barrels, while Canada's gain was 5,386,000.

The greater part of the loss of the United States was to the United Kingdom, to which country the United States shipped 2,713,000 barrels pre-war, compared with Canadian shipments of 2,355,000 barrels in 1924, the United States sent only 1,451,000 barrels to the United Kingdom, while Canada increased her exports to that destination to 4,226,000 barrels.

To Germany, the United States' exports increased from 187,000 barrels pre-war to 1,458,000 in 1924, but Canada's increase was still more striking, from 22,000 to 2,251,000 barrels. Pre-war the exports from the United States to British Guiana amounted to 102,000 barrels, while by 1924 only 1,000 barrels of flour from this country were shipped there. This loss, however is easily explained by the fact that Canada enjoys a certain preferential duty over the United States. Canada's exports to British Guiana increased from 57,000 barrels pre-war to 171,000 in 1924.

Another notable loss suffered by the United States was in the exports of flour to Norway, which decreased from 213,000 barrels pre-war to 126,000 in 1924. This was accompanied by an appreciable gain on the part of Canada of from 116,000 barrels pre-war to 465,000 in 1924. Similar losses on the part of the United States with corresponding gains by Canada were experienced in the trade with Denmark, Poland and Venezuela. At the present time Canada's flour exports to these countries exceed the pre-war exports of the United States by 1,500,000 barrels.

Exports from the United States to other parts of North America, principally to the West Indies, during 1924 were 51 percent or 236,000 barrels greater than pre-war. Those from Canada were 119 percent or 798,000 barrels greater. Canadian exports to Central America in 1924 amounted to 29,000 barrels, an increase over pre-war of 26,000 barrels, or 1200 percent. United States exports of this product to Central America in 1924 were 344,000 barrels, an increase of 54,000 barrels, or 10 percent over pre-war shipments. Compared with pre-war the exports from the United States to South America during 1924 showed an actual loss of 239,000 barrels, or 29 percent; those from Canada gained 275,000 barrels, or 141 percent.

Europe's share of flour exports from the United States showed a gain in 1924 over pre-war of 2,170,000 barrels, or 47 percent; Canada's gain was 6,090,000 barrels or 226 percent. In the case of Asia, the United States gained 2,674,000 barrels, or 160 percent; Canada gained 998,000 barrels, or 1200 percent. The African flour trade took 152,000 barrels more from the United States during 1924 than pre-war, a gain of 145 percent. Canada's trade with Africa showed a loss of 3,000 barrels, or 4 percent.

During 1924 the United States exported 31,000 barrels more of flour to Canada than during the pre-war years, an increase of 33 percent. Canada's exports to the United States for the same periods increased by 158,000 barrels, or 300 percent.

The most important points in the 1924 flour trade compared with pre-war are the great increase in the exports from the United States to Asia and the increase in the exports from both the United States and Canada, in particular from Canada, to Europe. The combined flour exports from the United States and Canada in 1924 were 14,927,000 barrels greater than pre-war. Of this increase the share of the United States was 6,515,000 barrels or 44 percent, and that of Canada, 8,352,000 or 56 percent.

The United States shipped smaller amounts of flour in 1924 than pre-war to the following countries: The United Kingdom, Russia, Denmark, Norway, Japan, Labrador, Barbados, Trinidad and Tobago, Brazil, British Guiana, Venezuela and British South Africa. The largest loss as stated above was to the United Kingdom, 1,262,000 barrels. Other large losses were to Japan, 443,000 barrels; Venezuela and British Guiana 101,000 barrels each; Norway, 93,000 barrels.

Large United States gains have been made in China, including Hongkong and Kwantung, Germany, the Netherlands, Finland, Greece, the Philippines, Mexico, Cuba, Haiti, the "Other West Indies," and Egypt.

Black Tea From China Growing In Favor Among American Tea Drinkers

American Populace Greatly Increasing Their Consumption Of Black Tea—Green Tea Was The Former Favorite

By Geo. W. Missemer

Although tea does not play that important role in the export trade from China that the average resident of Europe or America who has not looked up the statistics imagines that it does—it hardly being in the same class as raw silk, of which the exported value is seven times that of tea—still it it important to note that there has been a very considerable increase in China's tea trade during the past few years partly due to the fact that Americans are gradually increasing the use of the cup that "cheers but not inebriates."

The export of tea from China last year was almost double what it was [illegible] previously, and the China tea trade enjoyed a prosperity that it had not known for quite some years. This year also the tea trade has been very good, the principal reason being that the Russians have come into the market again rather strongly, whereas for the past several years Russian purchases had been negligible.

AMERICANS DRINK MORE TEA

The outstanding feature of the China tea trade for the past several years has been the remarkable change shown by the taste of the American public. Americans as a people are a coffee drinking nation, whereas the English and the Russians are the great tea drinkers. Coffee has always been one of the principal imports into America, but since the passing of the Prohibition amendment in the United States, as a result of which despite all that is said to the contrary, the drinking of alcoholic liquors in America has been greatly decreased, coffee has become an even greater favorite as a beverage in America than ever before.

The Americans have, however, also begun to drink tea on a scale that would not have been thought possible say a decade ago. Naturally, and for a number of reasons. It is the Indian tea that the Americans mostly use. Owing to the nervous strain under which the great mass of Americans live, the average citizen is more concerned with getting tea with a "body," or if you like, with a "kick", rather than taking any great deal of interest in the aroma or flavor. Not only does the Indian (or Ceylon) product furnish this quality to a greater degree than the Chinese tea does, but the Indian tea trade is pushed vigorously, and extensively advertised in the United States.

FROM GREEN TO BLACK

Up until a few years ago the comparatively small amount of Chinese tea which went to America was of the green variety, but in recent years there has been a sharp deflection to black tea, so that whereas in the year 1921 less than a quarter million taels worth of black tea went to the United States, last year the amount of black tea going to the United States had increased to two and a half million taels. On the other hand the consumption of green tea from China by Americans fell from four millions in 1921 to two millions last year.

The British people also prefer the Indian product, although during the past few years there has been a considerable increase in the export to the British Isles of China black tea. In fact last year the British Isles were by far the best customers of China for tea, well on to four and a half million taels worth of black tea, in addition to a small amount of green tea, going to Great Britain last year. In fact the export of Chinese tea to Great Britain from the years 1921 to 1923 was doubled annually in geometrical progression.

The year 1924 was rather a bad one for Chinese black tea, the whole quantity exported to foreign countries amounting to just a bit over three-and-a-half million taels, and one-third of this went to Hongkong. Last year the figures for Chinese black tea export had been quadrupled, the exact figure of the 1923 export being Tls. 13,991,559. The green tea export from China has remained practically stationary during the past few years, hovering around nine million taels, considerable of the decrease in this grade of tea to America being made up in greater exports to the Levant.

FUTURE IN AMERICA

There can be no doubt about it that the great future for China tea lies in America. All that is required to develop the trade is an advertising campaign. No citizenry in the world is so responsive to intelligent advertising as is the American. Once let the hundred million Americans, most of whom in these days drink a very small amount of alcoholic drinks, have it impressed upon them that tea is a much preferable drink to coffee and that among the teas of the world the tea from China has the best flavor and aroma—and from a purely health point of view has the least among all kinds of teas of the harmful ingredient, thein—and the demand from America will be so great that the present puny little plantations of China will be far inadequate to supplying the demand. A small start has already been made in pushing the China tea trade in America, as the customs figures indicate, but it is a field still white for the harvest and one well worth the attention of China tea traders, whether native or foreign.

French Commercial Mission Coming To Japan January

It is announced that the French Government is about to send an exceptionally important commercial and economic Mission to Japan with a view to the development of French interests in the Far East. The Paris correspondent of "The Times" says the Mission will leave France in January, and will be absent for two months, will be under the direction of M Ader, an engineer by profession, who is now Director of the cabinet of the Minister of Commerce. This effort, which is being organised jointly by that Ministry and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, will be closely associated with a body known as the National Office for Foreign Trade, which is doing excellent work in the interest of French exports. The constitution of the Mission marks a new departure in French practice. Instead of appointing mere officials drawn from its departmental staffs, the Government has invited the great industrial concerns to constitute the personnel of the Mission, to contribute directly to its cost, and to select their own delegates for each special trade represented. The Government, it is understood, has been led to organise this Mission to Japan in consequence of the remarkable success achieved by a similar Mission sent to the Far East by the Belgian Government.

SHORT POSTAGE TAXATION BY C.P.O. EXPLAINED

Why Letters From Canada Are On Different Basis Than U. S. A.

Although correspondents abroad are now fairly well acquainted with the fact that the foreign post offices in China have been abolished, and that letters from foreign countries must pay full international rates, it still happens that quite frequently letters are received in this country which bear only the postage covering the domestic rate. As a result all such letters are taxed here in accordance with the international rule, namely the deficiency is charged double.

There is, however, an interesting distinction in the situation as regards letters arriving here from Canada as compared with those from the United States. Although the money of the British governed dominion of Canada is on the same basis as that of the United States, the Canadian post office charges three cents gold for domestic letters, whereas the United States only charges two cents. Both countries, however, extend the courtesies of their domestic rate to their neighbors, and so it comes about that a letter from New York to Vancouver can be sent for two cents as against one say from Victoria (across the bay) which will cost three cents gold.

The United Sates charges the usual five cents gold rate for the first twenty grammes on letters to China, but the Canadian rate is ten cents gold. It will now be interesting to note what charge are levied here by the Chinese post office in case a letter is posted from America with the ordinary two cents gold postage or from Canada with the ordinary three cents gold postage. This is the way it is figured, say on a letter that comes within the limit of twenty grammes, which the great majority do.

On the letter from the United States with the two cents gold stamp, the local charge to cover shortage will be twelve Mexican cents. On the letter from Canada fourteen cents will be the tax. The explanation of the difference of the treatment is to be found in the fact that as Canada regularly charges double the ordinary international rate, the Chinese post office figures the Canadian money as being worth the same as Mexican money, so that the letter from America which is short three gold cents has to pay twice six Mex. cents or twelve cents, while the letter from Canada, although short seven gold cents must only pay twice seven sents, not gold but Mex., for the reasons above explained, or fourteen Mex. cents.

The Military Conferences And Future Peace In China

THE Chihli Party has been defeated and there is a temporary lull in the internal political affairs of China while the various political interests are taking stock of their situations and mapping out future policies. At Tientsin an important conference is being participated in by General Feng Yu-hsiang and Marshal Chang Tso-ling and the former Anfu leader, Tuan Chi-jui. General Yen Hsi-shan of Shansi probably has a representative at the meeting and in addition there are undoubtedly present agents of the military governors of several provinces which are still "on the fence" from the standpoint of casting their strength for or against the present regime in Peking.

Here in the Yangtsze Valley there is another important conference in session—at Nanking—and although nothing official has appeared in the press regarding its deliberations it is undoubtedly considering the new situation which has resulted from the defeat of Marshal Wu Pei-fu.

Thus we have two important conferences meeting in China this week in cities located about 600 miles apart and each discussing the same thing, but from different viewpoints. The Tientsin conference is considering the matter of division of spoils resulting from the recent victory and the provinces popularly known as the "Yangtsze Group" are taking stock of their new situation and probably are trying to arrive at some sort of understanding whereby they can effectively oppose what the Tientsin Conference decides upon.

Without knowing any of the details we imagine that the principal conflict in the Tientsin conference will be between General Feng Yu-hsiang, now in control of the national capital and Marshal Chang Tso-ling of Mukden on the important subject of unifying the country. General Feng, if his words mean anything at all, and undoubtedly he is sincere, desires to bring about a unification of the country through peaceful "round-table" conference methods. Marshal Chang Tso-ling of Manchuria on the other hand will quite likely insist upon unification by means of military force. The propaganda which has been sent out from his headquarters in recent days advocating the sending of soldiers to occupy Nanking and other strategic points in the Yangtsze Valley indicate this. Tuan Chi-jui the former Anfu leader is supposed to be in a position to pour oil on the troubled waters and to insist upon a policy which will bring all of the country peacefully into the fold. He will, or should, hold out this as a condition to his acceptance of the Presidency. Just what Dr. Sun Yat-sen will contribute when he arrives at the Tientsin conference we will leave to the personal opinions of our readers.

To return to the Nanking Conference, the chief problem there will be to decide first what to do about Marshal Wu Pei-fu, who as these lines were written, was still on a ship with some 4,000 of his soldiers, somewhere off the China coast or on the Yangtsze bound for Hankow. And next after this problem, the representatives of the military governors of the Yangtsze Provinces will have to decide just who is to lead the so-called Yangtsze Alliance. Is it to be Chi Hsieh-yuan of Kiangsu or Hsiao Yao-nan of Hupeh? As to Marshal Wu Pei-fu former leader of the Chihli forces there can be nothing but sympathy, for none of his former supporters in the Valley will want him. None of them will say this, but each and every one of them will have this idea in the back of his mind. If Marshal Wu decides to make Nanking his headquarters this naturally will expose that city and its present incumbent, Chi Hsieh-yuan, to attack from the North. And if Marshal Wu decides to go to Central China, exactly the same situation will confront Hsiao Yao-nan. Marshal Wu may settle this problem himself by deciding to reside as a private citizen in one of the foreign settlements at Shanghai. The difficulty of deciding what to do, probably is one of the reasons why Marshal is taking so much time on his cruise southward from Tientsin.

To get back to the Tientsin conference again, the first thing which will be decided will be the composition of the temporary cabinet which is to be appointed. When these names are announced we will then know which way the trend is to be. If the cabinet is forty or fifty per cent Mukden, we may be sure that thirty percent will be Anfu and the balance or twenty percent will go to the Yangtsze and South China. If the foregoing happens it will indicate that Mukden influence is paramount and this in turn will have considerable bearing on what happens in the Yangtsze Valley. To put it another way the Yangtsze Valley will then know that it is to be left out in the cold, figuratively speaking, and preparations will then be made to meet the situation by force of arms in the future.

At this stage of the game in Chinese politics, we would recommend on the part of the Chinese leaders a perusal of the minutes of the Constitutional Convention which created the American Government. At that historial meeting the same political rivalies existed among the American colonies which exist in China today and the methods were not so different either. But after many weeks of serious consideration the delegates made compromises which brought into being a new form of representative government which at least has stood the test for nearly a century and a half of turbulent world politics. China's politicians and militarists taking them collectively have not up to the present indicated any political capacity which makes them deserving of comparison with political leaders in other lands. It is said however that opportunity makes the man and if this is true, China's fortunes as an independent nation, certainly, are at a sufficiently low mark now to provide the inspiration.

More Roads Needed Beyond Settlement Limits

ONE of the directions in which the foreign control of the Foreign (the legal name of the "International") Settlement and the French concessions has had an effect quite different from that intended when the Treaties were made providing that the Settlements should be set aside for foreign residence and trade is that the Chinese desire to enjoy the privileges of foreign protection has been so insistent that the Foreign Settlements—and particularly that part of it which was the original British settlement, now known as the Central district—are now so full of Chinese residents that foreigners more and more are compelled to go beyond the Settlement limits in order to get breathing space for themselves and their families.

Beyond the end of the Bubbling Well road, which many foreigners, even some residing out that way, do not realise is the end of the Foreign Settlement, a large new foreign residential section has grown up, and the present system of roadways is far from adequate to supply the present needs of that large and rapidly growing community. There are several Municipal owned roads at present, but many more are needed. Whether or not they are Chinese-owned or Municipal-owned is not nearly so important a question as that they should be opened at an early date. The Municipal authorities do not have the right of eminent domain as a similarly situated executive arm of the local government would have in America or Europe and any negotiations to open new highways have to run the long and tedious gauntlet of private negotiations with each landowner, mostly Chinese in this case, before a through route can be obtained. If Chinese officialdom around Shanghai were really wise it would open such roads on its own initiative and thus obtain for itself the kudos of being progressive and public spirited. But we can easily imagine that if any steps are taken by the Municipality to open the necessary roads—which the Chinese themselves probably won't—then official pressure will be brought to bear upon private landowners who would doubtless be quite glad to sell to the Municipality a right of way through their property, if for no other reason than that their land would immediately become more valuable. In fact we have a dim recollection of seeing something about "sovereign rights" in this connection in the local Chinese press. But it has not been unheard of in past negotiations that this patriotic appeal has been overcome when a "handsome" price was offered for the land. One might almost suspect that such patriotic appeals were made with that particular intention.

Other Views Than Ours On The War In China

THE IRONY OF IT

(The Cincinnatti, Ohio, Enquirer)

Civil war of growing magnitude in China has caused grave apprehension among the Powers. Along with other nations the United States has dispatched warships and men to the scene of the trouble. Property and nationals must be protected. A situation as bad, or worse, than that which developed during the "Boxer" rebellion may arise. The strong warring factions now engaged near Shanghai are thoroughly equipped with modern guns—artillery, airplanes and munitions. Danger and death threaten Europeans in the disturbed territory.

It is stated, and there can be little question as to the truth of the statement, that the civilised Western nations supplied all this deadly war gear, which now may be employed to the injury of their own nationals.

At the Washington Conference these enlightened Christian Powers pledged themselves to permit no exportation of arms to China. This agreement was hailed as a great achievement in the direction of world peace. Now it is stated upon what appears to be reliable authority, that munitions firms of Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy have been and continue to be engaged in selling war supplies to the warring factions in that land of dangerous possibilities.

If these charges are true and are verified, what confidence can be placed in solemn declarations of the representatives of America and the Powers by the people of the world? It was to prevent just what now is going on in China that the Powers entered into the wise agreement recorded at Washington and ratified in the world's Christian capitals. Why talk in the language of righteous scorn of the violation of Belgium's neutrality if the nations of the West really are treating their solemn agreement, made at Washington, as a mere "scrap of paper?"

The Chinese revolutionaries have arms—the best of arms and equipment. Where did they get them? If the Powers are honest and consistent, let this matter be sifted. If they have proved recreant in this respect, how empty and hollow are all their vaunting asseverations with reference to world peace! Our own State Department should look into this matter for the sake of America's good name, at least.

TSINGTAO AND THE PRESENT SITUATION

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:

Sir: You will oblige me by inserting this in your valuable columns.

There has been confusion in this part of the country since the coup d'etat in Peking. Troops from Tsinanfu have been rushed here and martial law declared. But the confusion did not reach a high mark till yesterday when the reports came to the public that Wu Pei-fu had already arrived here and that Governor Kao had been forced to resign. That the coming of Wu Pei-fu is a mere rumor can be ascertained from the fact that up to this very minute there is no definite confirmation. However, the report that Governor Kao was forced to resign is true and that he is now said to be under foreign protection.

The present political situation in the country seems to be greatly shaken to its foundation. The faults are of course on the militarists who are fighting for nothing but selfish end. But the greatest faults should be borne by the people who have so far refrained from taking any definite measure to adjust the trouble. Our people seem to leave the future of the country in the hand of FATE. They have no nerve to stand and claim back rights.

In spite of the political trouble in almost every corner of the country, Tsingtao has been always considered the safest place. Since the assumption of office by Governor Kao, the people here enjoyed what we call, for want of a better term, good and safe administration. Everything has since then gone on smoothly. The establishment of schools for the spread of education has been greatly encouraged and he himself has undertaken the task of establishing a university, which promises to be one of the best in the country. But what of it now? Due to the power of militarism, he is forced to resign his enviable post. Because Governor Kao is a friend of Wu Pei-fu, he might have rendered Wu great assistance! But so far as things are concerned, he himself has kept his administration clean and has discharged his duties properly. He is no militarist and can play no havoc to the country. Why then should he be forced to resign and a militarist should be given his place? Tsingtao is a commerical port and only a civil and highly educated officer can fill the positon of Governor here. China needs to put 'CIVIL' above 'MILITARY' rule, if she wishes to enter into the family of nations.

No one can doubt that the appointment of General Wang is done merely because he is a favorite of the Tuchun of Shantung. Favoritism, whether it will bring happiness or misery to the people, plays an important role in the present Chinese political circle. Education and qualifications are absolutely disregarded and disrespected. Can China hope to become strong unless FAVORITISM is entirely uprooted?

One thing more. When Tsingtao was handed over to China, didn't our country promise to make it an absolutely commercial port? But why does the Military Governor of Shantung send troops and make war-like preparations here and then drive Governor Kao away? Granting that he fears the possible landing of Wu Pei-fu's troops, he has no right and no good reason to oust Governor Kao. The Chinese people have suffered long enough under the yoke of tyrannical militarists. Tsingtao, the only one safe place in China under Chinese jurisdiction, should not be dragged into the clutch of militarism. Our people should wake up at once and prevent the militarists from further molestation of their rights. As long as militarism holds sway in the country, China can never enter into the family of militarism by purely helping She will always be the laughing stock of the whole world.

Besides, there is no reason why the foreign powers should not take steps to prevent the spread of militarism by purely helping the Chinese people. Before there is any sparks of fire coming to burn Tsingtao, the foreign governments should, for the good of all, remind the fighting warlords that they will be held responsible for 'shooting the first shot.'

Thanking you once more for your valuable columns,

A CIVILIAN

Tsingtao, Nov. 6, 1924.

A FRIENDLY TALK ON THE PRESENT WAR

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:

Sir: I shall be very much obliged if you will kindly insert this in your valuable column.

The war between Chekiang and Kiangsu which took place in the northern and southern parts of our country has now come to an end. The war stopped because Gen. Lu Yung-hsiang left Shanghai. The war stopped because General Lu's own men have risen against their own General. Otherwise, General Lu would have held his ground firmly although he had suffered much. He had really suffered much, because he fought against not one province, but five provinces. It is really very hard for us at the present time to point out a man in our country of the boldness, honesty and capacity in the art of fighting as General Lu. His sacred name, I believe, will come down in our history as one of the greatest fighting men China ever produced.

"War produces righteousness. Without it we can hardly settle everything which is dark," said President Roosevelt. Yes, his saying is quite true, because it can turn dark into bright. But when we look at the recent war, it is otherwise. It is otherwise, because money played a great deal at the time of the war. The war broke out on account of General Chi Hsieh-yuan's ambitions. He has been trying to become one of the most powerful men in our country. Of course, General Lu would not attack Kiangsu when Kiangsu did not attack Chekiang first. There are thousands of soldiers whose lives have perished. What are they fighting for? Are they not fighting for one whose ambition is too high? Are they not fighting against their own brothers, against their own blood? In spite of this, there are hundreds of non-combatants, men and women who have also perished. There are still dreadful conditions which can hardly be described here. In fact, the recent war between Chekiang and Kiangsu will stand as one of the darked civil wars in our history, because an ambitious ruler reached his position, while the true ruler to whom China must depend in the future has been beaten. Now the only thing for us to hope for is bettering our country. We must hope that there will come a "Mussolini of China." May a real Mussolini of China come soon?

SMOKING IN TRAMCARS

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:

Sir:—As the cold weather has come, most of the windows of the tramcars are closed. Now, most tramcars are terribly crowded with passengers. Imagine the impure air in the car. But there are a lot of passengers—both Chinese and foreigners—smoking in the tramcars, thus making the atmosphere within more suffocated and unbearable. From a hygiene point of view smoking should be strictly prohibited in the cars by the authorities with the aid of the S.M.C.

Yours faithfully,
P. HENRY TENG.

THE PORTUGUESE AND THE CHINESE LANGUAGE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:

Sir.—I shall be obliged if you will allow me a small space in your valuable paper to take strong exception to an article regarding the Portuguese community in Shanghai entitled "Is Learning Chinese An Asset Worth The Effort To Foreign Business Men?" which appears in your issue of Sunday last, the 9th. instant.

Being a Portuguese myself, I submit I ought to (and certainly do) know more about the local Portuguese community than your correspondent.

In the first place it is more than nonsensical to say that we, Portuguese, as a whole, were never in such economic straits as we are at present. It is quite true (why deny it?) that we have but a very few wealthy men in our midst, yet those who cannot call themselves so are living just as respectably as their friends in other communities holding similar positions.

What authority your correspondent has to write on our economical standing is a mystery to me, nor can I understand what prompted him to refer to the local Portuguese community in such unkindly terms as regards our business abilities.

We are accused of having been trained in old style methods, yet our services have been appreciated by thousands of firms throughout the Far East, who do not seem to prefer the Chinese to us.

What appears to me to be a very old style method (and a condemnable one at that) is for a man to write on subjects on which he knows very little or nothing, particularly if his writings are inclined to hurt: your correspondent, unfortunately, seems to be in this category, and I must say that I, for one, do not envy his methods.

As regard the Portuguese being "rapidly superseded by the younger generation of Chinese, who, in the opinon of your writer are trained in more modern methods and cannot only do more work but do it better," it will suffice to say that during my rather long stay in Shanghai and elsewhere it has been my lot to work with Chinese, many of whom holding college diplomas. These Chinese have proved to be willing but not good workers. They are undoubtedly able to undertake minor jobs satisfactorily, but tell them to write a letter, important or otherwise, or to tackle a complicated account and the result will be a "fiasco."

The Portuguese, on the contrary, have invariably shown their ability as book-keepers, correspondents and clerks.

As a rule, a Portuguese feels himself quite at home in any department of business, whereas a Chinese is only inclined to do a certain number of things of comparatively minor importance. There are, of course, exceptions, but exceptions are, and will always be, exceptions.

He seems to harbor a quite different opinion of the Chinese, an opinion to which he is fully entitled, but which, I am confident, is not the opinion of those who are at the head of leading firms throughout the Far East.

Enclosing my card, and thanking you for the publication of this letter,

I am, etc.,
JACINTO.

Shanghai, Nov. 11, 1924.

Editorial Note: There was no intention whatever on the part of the writer of the article referred to to offend the Portuguese community, but to use an illustration in the course of an argument on the study of the Chinese language. We should however be pleased to hear from this or any other correspondent on the subject of whether in the field of accountancy it is or is not a fact that foreign-trained Chinese are gradually more and more filling positions in this line of work.

Where Is the Waistline? Anywhere or Nowhere, Answer the Designers

Concerning the much talked about waistline, dress critics last summer said that it would have to get higher or lower, since it wouldn't be in the nature of fickle fashion to leave it where it was; and since it couldn't conceivably get much lower the chances were that we were getting ready for a period of higher waistlines. That seemed like sound logic. But fashion doesn't progress according to logical plans any more than does the development of art or the progress of politics—or anything else in which the human coefficient is of prime importance.

In some cases the leading designers have answered the riddle of the waistline by not using any at all, not even suggesting any. In other cases they solve it by what seems to be a further lowering of an already low waistline, together with a suggestion of a high waistline by means of horizontal bands or other ornamentation. The result is a frock that seems to have a flounce about the skirt and a yoke effect at the top. Just where waist begins and where it ends is hard to say. Shall we regard the bodice as everything above the low-placed skirt flounce, or shall we stretch our imaginations and regard the waist only what is above the band that suggets a yoke? Or shall we abandon for the time being the time-honored trick of dividing frocks into skirts and waist, forget that such a division, arbitrary enough, was ever invented to bother the designers of women's clothes?

Beschoff, Lenief, Renee, Philippe et Gaston, and Premet all hit upon the idea of indicating the high waistline by the use of some sort of trimming yoke or band. And with this there is a tendency to outline more definitely than has been usual for several seasons the curve of the body above the waist. So from wearing binders and brassieres to make us as flat as a yesterday's pancake, it may be that we shall again be led to wear belts and girdles designed to show bodily contours.

The sketch shows one of the most charming of the new frocks suggesting a raised waistline, though here as with the frocks of Premet, Philippe et Gaston and the rest there is no actual waistline, only a band of silvery embroidery a few inches below the armpits. The frock itself is of pink velvet, with silver embroidery down the left side and white fur at the bottom of the flare at the left side.

Pink velvet evening frock with silver embroidery and band of white fur edging flare at right side.

AN APPLE A DAY

Jellied Apples

Cook a couple of apples with plenty of water until the apples are all to pieces. Strain off the liquid, add the juice of a couple of lemons, sugar and more water. Thicken with softened gelatine—read the recipes on the gelatine box to see how much you need to stiffen each pint of liquid. Have ready some carefully baked apples, which have been kept covered and unbrowned. Pour the gelatine mixture over them and let harden. Serve with boiled custard or cream.

FRIDAY'S TASKS

It seems to be the custom of the land to clean on Friday. The idea doubtless is that it is a good plan to have the house as clean as possible for the week-end, and that Saturday is usually too crowded with cooking and special laying in of supplies. Anyway, the washing and ironing and mending and planning are out of the way, and the house doubtless is sorely in need of cleaning and putting to rights.

Unless you are very fortunate indeed, and most methodical you cannot simply say to the maid or cleaning woman, "Here is the soap and scouring powder. Go ahead." It usually takes a good bit of time getting things in condition to be cleaned. Closets have to be set to rights, bureau tops tidied up, books put back in their shelves in the bookcases, withered flowers turned out of vases, stray letters and memorandum on desks and tables destroyed or filed, and things generally straightened out.

The vacuum cleaner has in a measure revolutioned cleaning day. There is less need for elaborately draping all the furniture or taking all ornaments and bric-a-brac down from their roosting places. Moreover with the vacuum cleaner it is possible often to clean a room quite thoroughly without danger of spreading dust to an adjacent room. Even the humble carpet cleaner is a great help in keeping dust from scattering. Dustless mops and dust-cloths that collect rather than dispel dust are to be had. Friday cleaning day that was once spent in clouds of dust, with head tightly bound, has been robbed of much of its oldtime terrors.

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

"I love her, yes, I love her dearly!"
He seemed to mean the words he spoke;
"I never treated her severely
Nor made a promise that I broke;
I often cooked, and washed the dishes
And mopped the koors and wiped the stairs;
I tried to meet her fondest wishes
And lighten all her household cares.

"I never was inclined to beat her,
My love was much too deep for that;
I always kept my dates to meet her,
I love her, even, since she's fat;
Believe me, judge, it pleased me greatly
To keep her dressed in queenly style;
I've always acted most sedately
I took her scolding with a smile.

"The charges are all wrong; I'm telling
The solemn truth, and nothing less;
Her mother came to share our dwelling.
And did I bid her welcome? Yes!
I gave her all of my affection,
No other got a look from me;
She never lacked my strong protection;
I was as good as I could be.

"I love her still, and shall forever,
Despite the slander you have heard;
I never beat her up, and never
Made cruel threats by look or word;
I have been charged unjustly by her
Of raising bruises on her cheeks,
But please, your honor, don't deny her
The separation that she seeks."

Steward Caught In Attempt To Smuggle Chinese Into U. S.

According to a cable received in Shanghai yesterday, the Chinese chief steward on the Steamer President Monroe, of the Dollar Round-the-World service, was sentenced to a year's imprisonment in New York for attempting to smuggle Chinese stowaways into the United States in violation of the immigration laws. The President Monroe arrived in New York on October 23 and a few days later several Chinese were arrested by the police charged with attempting to slip past the immigration barrier.

Great Increase Of U. S. Trade With China In Decade

America's commerce with China, says the Trade Record, has made remarkable strides within the past decade. Recent official reports by the U. S. government show that American exports to China in the fiscal year ending with June 1924 were $124,436,000 against $24,628,000 in the fiscal year 1914, which immediately preceded the war.

Prior to the World War a large share of the merchandise imported by China was of European origin but her takings from the United States increased rapidly as the war progressed, and U. S. exports to China advanced from 24½ million dollars in the fiscal year preceding the opening of the World War to 43¼ million dollars in 1918, the closing year of the war. They have since continued to expand until they made their highest record, 124½ million dollars in the year just ended, the fiscal year 1924. The total exports from the United States to China in the past 10 years, from the beginning of the war to date, are $786,000,000 against only $270,691,000 in the 10 years preceding the war. The imports from China in the past 10 years are $1,217,000,000 against $316,857,000 in the 10 years preceding the war. Thus America's trade with China in the decade since the beginning of the World War has exceeded $2,000,000,000 against but $587,000,000 in the decade preceding the war.

What are the principal articles forming this big and growing American trade with her sister republic on the opposite side of the globe? Wheat and flour, tobacco, illuminating oil, copper, cotton, cotton goods, automobiles are the chief exports to China. The total value of wheat and flour exported to China in the fiscal year just ended is, in round terms, $23,000,000, tobacco in the natural state $16,000,000, cigarettes another $16,000,000, illuminating oil $61,000,000, copper $7,000,000, raw cotton $4,000,000, cotton cloths a little less than $2,000,000, and automobiles about $1,000,000, all of these figures being in very round terms.

The principal articles going from China to the United States are of course silk and silk manufactures, tea, wool, hides, bristles, human hair, furs, eggs, egg albumen, laces, and Chinese nut oil.

Kentucky Land Baron's Acres Left To Negro

Aged Housekeeper To Get Bulk Of Estate Under Colonel's Will

Lexington, Ky. Ellen Davis, sixty-year-old negro, is one of the wealthiest women in the South. The will of Colonel John T. Hughes, who died recently, made her so. And thereby hangs a story.

Colonel Hughes, who had been practically a recluse during the last few years of his life, apparently believed his kindred here and in other states had not made as much of him as he thought his due—or they did not meet other specifications; but whatever was the reason, when he died a few weeks ago at the age of eighty-four he left the bulk of his $500,000 estate in this county to Ellen Davis, who had been his housekeeper.

It is estimated that her part of the property is well worth $300,000, and she seems stunned at the immensity of her wealth and refuses to talk about it.

And then Ellen is rather canny. She realizes that she may lose the estate yet—because the will is being contested, the claim being made that the instrument is not the last document of the kind made by Hughes—and said to a newspaper man that there "was lots to be done" before she could be sure the property is her own.

Other negroes participate in the estate's division under the terms of the will. There is Alex Rankin, longtime servant of Colonel Hughes, and then there is Robert Henry Hughes, called in the will the son of Ellen Davis, who also was well taken care of—if the will survives the court fight.

Colonel Hughes did not mingle much with other men. Most of his days he spent on his great farms six miles from Lexington, and in his home—palatial on the outside, at least.

He was well known, however, because he was one of the few men hereabouts who wore the chin whiskers, or, rather, goatee, of the old-time Southerner. And he nearly always traveled in a small runabout, with a blooded horse between the shafts. He inherited part of his estate, the remainder he accumulated by hard work, careful attention to details and frugality.

Colonel Hughes knew that a contest of his will was likely. The instrument sets out that "if any person herein mentioned contests my will, or objects to the probate thereof, then any and all property devised to said person or persons shall lapse and pass under the residuary part of my will."

To Ellen Davis, almost white in color—short, fat, wrinkled and looking every day of all the years credited to her—is given the home farm on the Maysville pike, containing 27½ acres, absolutely to do with as she pleases. She also is given the contents of the house, containing antiques and other treasures. To her go the farming implements on the place, wagons, work stock and a black saddle mare, Red Belle H. Her son, Robert Henry Hughes, who is said to be in a European university, is bequeathed a farm on an adjoining pike, which contains 160 acres. This is given him outright.

To Alex Rankin, referred to in the will as an "old, faithful colored man who has been in my employ about forty years," is bequeathed the farm lying on the Haley, Clintonville and Lexington pikes, containing ninety-six and a half acres, "to have and to hold for and during his natural lifetime, with remainder in fee simple, to Robert Henry Hughes, son of Ellen Davis."

These farms are among the very best in all the Bluegrass country.

Colonel Hughes overlooked some of his relatives here. To others he gave just enough of a bequest to show that he "remembered" them. The largest single cash gift is that to Robert McCreary, of Chicago, son of the late Governor James B. McCreary of Kentucky. The amount is $10,000. To McCreary's daughter, Mrs. Patewood Gay, of this city, is left $3,000. There are a few bequests, of $1,000 or $2,000 down to a few hundred, to various persons.

Now come Mrs. Ella Fennell and John Bayless, who attack the will on the ground that it is not the last document of the sort made by Hughes. The petition names eighty-eight defendants, including all of the heirs-at-law and the relatives whom Colonel Hughes did not mention in his will.

As occupant of the handsome home near this city, Ellen Davis would be a neighbor of many families of wealth. A short distance away, across the Maysville-Paris Turnpike, rises the great Green Hills mansion, erected at a cost of almost $1,000,000 by James B. Haggin, New York-California-Kentucky copper magnate and turfman. This place now is owned by Joseph and George Widener, of Philadelphia. Not far away, either, is the farm of Walter Jeffords, of Pennsylvania, and Samuel Riddle, of Maryland, upon whose broad lands Man o' War, Golden Broom and other equine kings and queens take their ease. John E. Madden's Hamburg Place is not out of reasonable distance, nor is August Belmont's Nursery Stud. Lesser farms there are galore. The fashionable Lexington Country Club is on the same road, as is the Hughes farm, and a very short distance away. But it is not likely that Ellen Davis will ever know her "neighbors" exist—she is given to strictly minding her own business and allowing other people's affairs to take their own course. She has won many econiums for that.

Colonel Hughes was never known as particularly a charitable man, but he looked after his own affairs and so added to his large holdings. A story is told of a clash he once had with James B. Haggin, who formerly owned the Elmendorf farm, which crept very near around Colonel Hughes's property, the Elmendorf estate being at that time of about 1,100 acres in extent.

The Hughes acres were as broad as those of Haggin, although there were not so many of them. They were productive, however, and would have rounded out in good shape the "small principality" which Haggin at one time seemed bent on establishing here. Haggin coveted the Hughes farm and asked him to put a price on his land, according to the story. Hughes astounded "Uncle Jimmie," as Haggin was known, by declining to sell. For a year or two this state of affairs continued, each time Haggin pressing Hughes to sell and each time Hughes refusing imperturbably to sell.

Finally, in a burst of what might pass for indignation, Haggin said one day to Hughes: "Well, I'll wait and buy it when you are dead." Hughes laughed, the story has it, and went his way. But Hughes didn't die—then. And Haggin did. Haggin has been dead around ten years. So, Haggin did not get that land.

Hughes's kinfolks hereabouts are not taking any part so far as known in the attack on the will. The general opinion of those who knew Hughes is that he knew what he was doing when he made the will leaving his property as he did. The idea seems to be that he had a right to dispose of his property as he saw fit.
